

Psychology Research Proposal Ideas

---

- Evaluate the interaction between representational systems in the brain for bilingual children
- Investigate the idea of working memory as a component of long-term memory
- Discuss the findings supporting the role of the hippocampus in the production of memory
- Examine the links between working memory and attention
- Evaluate the function of the prefrontal cortex in short-term memory
- Consider the relationship between emotional memory and episodic memory
- Discuss game theory in terms of strategic thinking
- Examine the function of emotion and reasoning when making moral judgments
- Consider the development of implicit social recognition
- Explain the use of cognitive neuroscience in social psychology
- Is evolutionary psychology a useful means of investigation of behavior
- What explains the phenomenon of altruism in varying social situations?
- Evaluate why complex human behavior cannot be broken down into individual personality or behavioral characteristics
- Examine the possible indicators of choice of mate in terms of behavior
- Evaluate the use of game theory experiments in gaining an understanding of real world behavior
- What are the effects of maternal personality disorders on a child's mental well-being?
- Evaluate the relationship between television watching and obesity
- Examine the effects of maternal stress on premature delivery of babies
- Consider the situations that lead to suicidal behavior in adolescents
- Assess the potential adverse effects of abortion on maternal mental health

- Discuss the link between childhood abuse and the development of later abusive behavior
- Analyze the specific characteristics of schizophrenia in young adults
- Evaluate the potential effects of different colors on various mental states
- Is there a link between nature and nurture when it comes to hyperactive children?
- Examine the causes and effects of substance addictions
- Discuss the relevance of Freud's psychoanalytic theories
- Evaluate the latest findings in the study of anxiety and its treatment
- Examine the influence of circadian rhythm on behavior
- Discuss psychological effects that pertain to attachment theory?
- Assess the benefits of laughter from physical and psychological standpoints.

For more topic ideas click here!